Caroline & Jon

JUNE 4, 2010 | CHARLESTON, SOUTH CAROLINA

Caroline Bell and Jon Stone met in chemistry class at the College of Charleston, but it wasn't until a few years later that they discovered their own chemistry and began a long-distance courtship. After Jon proposed, they began planning a laid-back, Lowcountry wedding. "We fell in love with the Woodlands Inn, but the weekend we had chosen wasn't available," says Caroline. "They offered the option of a Friday morning wedding, and it couldn't have been more perfect. We woke up, got dressed, and walked down the aisle before the heat of the day set in." The day's schedule also allowed the couple's out-of-town guests the freedom to explore and enjoy historic Charleston.
